JUDGE PLEDGES
TO DECIDE TAX
CASE BY AUG. 15Arguments on State Sales
Tax Finished Last Evening

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Whether an injunction to restrain the state from enforcing the two per cent sales tax act is to be issued will be decided before Aug. 15, the date on which the first payment from retailers is due.

Circuit Judge L. E. Stone, who has the petition of the Council of Illinois Merchants for an injunction under advisement, said his decision will be made before that date.

Judge Stone held a night session last evening to conclude the hearing on the numerous constitutional questions involved in the dispute.

During the day attorneys representing the Merchants' Council, led by former Circuit Judge Jesse R. Brown, Alton, attacked the law. At the evening session Montgomery S. Winning, Assistant Attorney General, defended the constitutionality of the impost.

Many Obligations

Many charges of unconstitutionality were made by Brown and his associates, State Representative I. H. Stroppe, Alton, Roscoe Forth, Granite City, L. G. Pfefferle, Springfield, and George W. Kenney, Springfield.

They claimed the act, in violation of the Constitution, delegated legislative authority to the state Department of Finance, which administers the measure; that the Governor, the State Auditor and State Treasurer had been granted legislative powers and that the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which expends the tax collected, had been given an illegal grant of authority.

The legality of the vote by which the sales tax bill was passed in the House was also challenged. Forth said R. E. Grigsby, Blandinsville Democrat, had no right to hold his seat as he was indebted to the state for gasoline taxes he had collected as an oil distributor. Grigsby was one of the 77 House members—the exact number required—to vote for the bill.

Admits Grigsby Charge

Assistant Attorney General Winning denied all allegations of unconstitutionality. He maintained the Supreme Court had ruled that the Assembly possessed the right to pass an occupational tax. He claimed the sales tax was such an act in that it taxed the business of retail selling and the gross receipts were merely the "yardstick" by which the tax was assessed.

In his demurrer, Winning admitted all the allegations made by Forth as to Rep. Grigsby. He claimed, however, that the House is the sole judge of the qualifications of its membership and that no court possessed the right to question the Assembly's act in permitting a member to sit even though the member was disqualified by the Constitution.

Guardsmen Fail
To Prevent Gun
Play In Election

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Blazing guns and exploding dynamite, injuring three men, marked the start today of the primary election in Harlan county, despite the presence of four companies of National Guardsmen, who had been ordered on duty as the result of pre-election outbreaks Thursday and Friday when two were killed.

The men injured today were Robert Gilbert, 32, who may lose the sight of one eye; Theodore Middleton, resigned Police Chief of Harlan, and candidate for the Republican nomination for Sheriff, leg injury; and Jim Cawood, 37, of Evans, two fingers shot off.

They said they were targets of an outbreak at the precinct of the R. C. Tway Coal Company camp, a mile south of there.

Transient Fell Asleep On North-Western Tracks At Rochelle And Passenger Train Ended His Life

(Telegraph Special Service)

Rochelle, Aug. 5.—A transient, believed to be T. Phillips, aged about 45 years, was found beneath the wheels of a westbound Chicago & North Western passenger train near the depot at an early hour this morning. A slip of paper, believed to be a physician's order, found in a pocket of the dead man's clothing, bore the name of T. Phillips. The body was terribly mangled and was removed to the Unger mortuary where an inquest will be conducted by Coroner J. C. Aiken of Forreston this afternoon.

Another transient giving the name of Paul Klimek, 1122 Fourth avenue, Moline, Ill., was reported to have been sitting on the railroad

Two French Fliers Hop Off
From New York For 'No-Where'
Seeking New Distance RecordHope To Reach India
Before They Have To Come Down

BULLETIN

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The monoplane carrying Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos for a trans-Atlantic distance flight from New York, was "near Sable Island" at 10:25 A. M. CST., today, a report from the Canadian East Coast wireless station said.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—A transatlantic flight "to nowhere" began today when Lieut. Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos, French aviators, took off from Floyd Bennett field at 3:41 A. M. CST., in an attempt to set a distance record.

They planned to cross the ocean by way of Cape Sable, N. S., and the Great Circle route and then "just keep going." Persia, Africa, or Russia may be their landing place, they indicated, but they would prefer to land in Karachi, India. Their direction after reaching the Seyll Islands, off the English coast, will be determined by weather.

The record they seek to smash is 5,340 miles, set last February by Squadron Leader Oswald R. Gayford and Flight Lieutenant Gilbert E. Nicholls of the British Royal Air Force. The flew from Cranwell, England, to Walfish Bay, South-West Africa.

Carried Big Load

The monoplane of Rossi and Codos is called the "Joseph Le-Brix" in honor of the famous French flier who was killed in 1931, and it carried 1,770 gallons of gasoline. This tremendous load led observers to fear a crash on the take-off, and as a result city and U. S. Navy fire apparatus was assigned to the field, along with police emergency squads.

The takeoff, however, was perfect and a small crowd cheered as the plane soared away over Jamaica Bay.

Rossi is an officer of the French Aviation Corps. He is 32 years old, married, and lives in Paris. He was a war flier and has 3,000 hours flying to his credit. On this flight he is navigating and is serving as radio operator and co-pilot.

Codos is a commercial flier stationed at LeBourget field and also is married, with a home in Paris. He is 37 years old, learned to fly after the war, in which he served in the infantry and artillery, and has 6,000 hours in the air.

Woman Seeks
Information On
Dixon Pioneers

The Telegraph and Miss Frances Patrick, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, are in receipt of communications from Miss Elizabeth B. Hunter, Secretary-Treasurer of the Steuben Courier, Bath, N. Y., seeking information concerning her grandparents, who lived in Dixon years ago, which information neither this paper nor Miss Patrick has been able to learn.

Miss Hunter states her grandparents were Jeremiah and Clarissa Murphy and that the former owned the ferry at Dixon in 1847, in which year her mother, Katherine, was born here. Her grandparents had two other daughters, she says, Elizabeth and Mary.

The New York newspaper woman plans to visit this city in the near future and if any reader of The Telegraph can impart any of the information she desires it will be given to her on her arrival if communicated to The Telegraph.

Sally Rand Told
She Must Put On
More Than A FanHer Offer To Demonstrate Dance In Court Declined

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—For the week-end at least, Sally Rand must wear something more substantial than a coat of whitewash and a couple of part time fans.

The courts were unable today to decide for all time whether the fan dancer's fan dance was a thing of beauty and a joy forever or a licentious display of the human form.

Sally, earning a graduation from a World's Fair night show to a loop four-a-day by grace of the shocked exclamations of reformers and city officials and the resultant publicity had time between acts to make a tour of the Chicago courts today to defend her nude performance. She offered to demonstrate that it was all for art's sake, but Judge Erwin J. Heston hastily demurred and put it over until Monday, saying he might find time over the week-end to see the show. But meanwhile Miss Rand ought to dress up a bit.

Evidence Varied

The court inquired whether she kept herself covered at all times on the stage. Policemen and police-woman had said she didn't, when they arrested her four times at the downtown theater yesterday.

"I do," began Miss Rand, "with the exception that at the finish I lean the fans on my shoulder (demonstrating the stance). I hold that pose through four bars of music."

Her first arrest came after her first presentation yesterday and caused police no little trouble as she slipped from their grasp, fans and all. She and Louis R. Lipston, production manager of the theater, were charged with giving an indecent exhibition.

The next time she danced she wore something in addition to the fans, but it slipped off as she was leaving the stage and she was in the hands of the law again.

"I couldn't help it," she told police. "It dropped off."

Twice again before the day was over Sally did the fan dance and twice again police arrested her.

Inoculated Dogs
And Rabbits Taken
From Neb. Hospital

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Thirty rabbits and six guinea pigs which had been inoculated with dangerous infectious diseases, were stolen from their pens at the Lincoln General Hospital early today, Mrs. Gladys Smith, Superintendent reported.

Mrs. Smith immediately asked newspapers to publish a warning of the danger of handling or eating the animals. She urged that the thief be requested to quickly get in touch with hospital authorities so the health menace may be ended promptly.

The guinea pigs had been subjected to injections for tuberculosis and meningitis. She said the diseases are not contagious but are infectious.

Former Head Of

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Theodore R. Berlach, 68, former president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association and head of the Gerlach-Barklow calendar company of Joliet, died today at his home after a three week's illness.

Besides his other activities Gerlach had taken an active part in the Associated Advertising Clubs and was a former executive of the organization.

VALLEY OF RIO
GRANDE SWEEP
BY HIGH WINDSFear Damage To Growing Crops Will Be At Least Quarter

Brownsville, Texas, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The rich and populous lower Rio Grande valley today surveyed damage to buildings and the growing citrus and cotton crops in the wake of an 80-mile-an-hour hurricane.

The storm apparently was blowing itself out below the United States-Mexico border.

An Brazos Island, where 25 vacationists were marooned, several buildings could be seen still standing. Communication was cut off, but it was believed a group came through the storm safely.

The Valley Citrus Fruit Growers exchange estimated about 20 to 25 per cent of the citrus fruit had been blown off trees from Brownsville to Mercedes. From Mercedes west it was thought the fruit would not be damaged more than 3 to 10 per cent.

Cotton growers said that from 40 to 50 per cent of the bolls had been blown off stalks in the lower valley.

Point Isabel and Brownsville, at the mouth of the Rio Grande, were directly in the path of last night's storm, which blew for two hours, then veered suddenly and lunged southward into Mexico.

Communications Severed

The principal concern was felt for 25 or 30 persons marooned in Col. Sam Robertson's Del Mar hotel on Brazos Island, and for 10 or 12 Coast Guardsmen at the government station on Padre Island.

Communication with both islands was severed late yesterday when the gales reached a force of 70 miles an hour and heavy seas inundated the greater portions of both islands—two long, narrow sand bars which rise a few feet above the sea level and stretch for miles along the coast.

Scarcely a building in Point Isabel escaped damage. Most of the buildings there were of frame construction. Brownsville was hit heavily, trees being stripped of their limbs, roofs of houses and buildings torn away and light and power lines blown down. The city remained in darkness all night, although telephone and telegraph lines to the outside world remained intact.

Gaius Gracchus, the Roman tribune who lived in 146 B. C., was the first to practice farm relief by distributing grain to the poor. He supplied, at the expense of the Roman government, a bushel and a quarter per month at half price.

Tear Gas Closes Stock Exchange

High excitement prevailed in New York's financial district when Brokers, gasping for breath, were driven from the Stock Exchange by fumes which police said came from tear gas bombs thrown into an open pipe of the ventilating system. Though no one was reported overcome, trading was suspended for the day. Here's the scene as emergency squads arrived on the scene.

AUSTIN SMITH
CALLED TO HIS
REST IN NIGHTVeteran Employee At Post Office Has Been Summoned

Austin E. Smith, for many years employed as mail clerk at the local postoffice and prominent citizen of Dixon, passed away at his home, 629 North Jefferson avenue at about 1 o'clock this morning, his death ending a long illness. Mr. Smith was born at Grove City, Pa., April 23, 1862, the son of Oliver Perry Smith and Mary Eliza Zigler Smith. He was the fourth in the family of eleven children. Three brothers and two sisters survive as follows: Mark D. and Roy L. of Dixon, Frank B. of Belvidere, Mrs. Baylis of Jackson, Mich., and Mrs. Anna Gray of Midland, Mich.

He was united in marriage to Minnie A. Helmer on the eighth day of April, 1903, to whom the sympathy of a large number of relatives and friends is extended in her bereavement.

Mr. Smith was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city and taught the men's class known as the Big Brother's class of the Sunday school for a period of 19 years. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and was a member of the veteran's organization. He was a faithful employee in the Dixon postoffice for nearly thirty years, from which position he retired November 30, 1930.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church, Rev. Lloyd W. Walter officiating and with interment in Oakwood. It was a request of the deceased that friends omit flowers.

East Alton Couple
Held In Luer Case
As Letter Writers

Alton, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Charles Chussen, 51-year-old real estate operator and former saloon proprietor, and his wife, Lillian, were charged today with using the mails for attempted extortion in the kidnapping of August Luer, Alton bank president and meat packer. The warrants were issued by United States Commissioner Arthur Felsen in East St. Louis.

The Chussens, who were arrested yesterday at their home in East Alton, were taken to the Franklin county jail at Benton in default of $100,000 bonds each.

The charges are based on the mailing of a ransom note from East St. Louis while Luer was held captive. Five other persons are held on warrants making the same charge.

Horner Will Visit
Camp Grant Sunday

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner will be guest of honor tomorrow at the Illinois military training camp.

The Governor is expected to arrive before noon. He will be escorted to Mollens aux Bois Woods in the southwestern quarter of the camp to be greeted by 7,000 National Guardsmen and an assemblage of civilians.

It will be the only mass assemblage of the 1933 encampment, and the Governor's first opportunity to address the troops since he took office.

Boston Attorney, Member
Of National Guard, Held
For Gassing Stock Bldg.Four Alleged Associates Captured In
Raid At Boston

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Eugene S. Daniell, Jr., of Somerville, Mass., was placed under arrest today on a charge of placing the tear gas bombs that resulted in the closing of the New York Stock Exchange yesterday.

Daniell was picked up by bomb squad detectives in a mid-town hotel this morning for questioning and taken to police headquarters. He is 26 years old and gave his address as 26 Hemlet Street, Somerville.

The tear gas bombs were placed in the ventilator intakes in the Stock Exchange building yesterday and flooded the trading floor of the Exchange with fumes that drove brokers and stock exchange attaches to the streets for air. The gassing happened at 12:15 and caused the closing of the Exchange for the day. As today previously had been declared an exchange holiday, the stock market will not open until Monday morning.

Faces Felony Charge

Daniell was charged with malicious mischief as a felony, because the damage caused by the bombs exceeded the misdemeanor allowance. He was taken in custody in his room at the St. Paul Hotel, 69 Street and Columbus Ave.

Inspector John A. Lyons said that Daniell, under questioning, admitted he was the man who placed a package believed for a time to contain a bomb on the steps of the home of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, recently.

Daniell is a Boston lawyer and a private in the Massachusetts National Guard. A native of Maine he received his degree from Harvard Law School in 1932. He is married and lives in Somerville.

Held Under Bond

While at Harvard, Daniell played class football and was 175-pound wrestling champion of the college. He belonged to the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1910 and the Phoenix Club at the College.

In 1932 he ran for President as the candidate for the Commons party and received about 325 votes.

Daniell was arraigned before Magistrate Samuel L. Katz in Tombs Court and held in default of $10,000 bail for a hearing next Tuesday. The short affidavit on which he was held charged suspicion of malicious mischief a felony because of damage to machinery in excess of $300.

HOLD FOUR IN BOSTON

Boston, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Four men, arrested last night at the headquarters of "The National Independent Party," for questioning in connection with the tear gas bombing of the New York Stock Exchange, will be arraigned Monday on a charge of conspiracy to promote anarchy.

Warrants for their formal arrest on that charge were obtained last night.

HUGE BALLOON
CAME DOWN ONE
MILE FROM FIELDLeaky Valve Let Big Gas
Bag Descend In Railway Yards

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—An old freight house today housed the huge balloon in which Lieut. Commander T. G. W. Settle of the Navy had hoped to soar to a new altitude record in the stratosphere.

While crowds milled about the deflated bag early today after its unexpected descent not more than a mile from the Soldier Field takeoff point the ground crew, aided by railroad employees, loaded it with the gondola on a railroad car and switched it into the old freight house.

It will remain there until officials of A Century of Progress and other sponsors of the flight decide whether to send it back to Akron, Ohio, for repairs, or to keep it here for another attempt.

Lieut. Commander Settle hoped to make another try at the flight, in which scientists were particularly interested because of the discoveries it was expected would be made.

Even though the bag and gondola, in which the delicate instruments for scientific observation were stored, prove not to have been damaged, the loss of the hydrogen gas was heavy.

Gas Loss Is Heavy

The balloon had a capacity of 600,000 cubic feet, and the gas, Commander Settle said, was valued at $10 per 1,000 cubic feet. The bag was about one half inflated when he took off.

The huge balloon, "The Century of Progress," in which the Commander hoped to break existing altitude records and obtain valuable scientific data heretofore unknown to man, descended within about ten minutes after the hop-off at Soldier Field.

Settle was not injured, and the balloon, which had risen to a height of approximately 3,000 feet, was apparently not seriously damaged when it landed in the yards of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad at 14th and Canal streets. There was a small dent in the bottom of the gondola and it was possible that the bag itself was damaged.

Wants Another Trial

Commander Settle said a further inspection would be necessary to determine the exact extent of the damage. He appeared happy over the fact that the apparent damage was not extensive and expressed hope for another trial even before Navy men, his ground crew and others, had the big bag packed up.

"I rose to an altitude of about 3,000 feet," the Commander said, "and opened a valve to level off. I wished to stay at that height for a while. The valve, however, stuck, and the balloon started down. I started to ballast out, but the balloon continued its descent, and could not be righted."

In all Commander Settle tossed overboard fifty-five bags of ballast, each of which weighed 40 pounds, after his takeoff at 2:05 A. M. (CST) but the big bag continued to drop.

Lights Played On It

The gas filled the top, which towered a height equal to fifteen stories. The envelope folds hung from this inflated portion to the bottom of the bag which was 25 feet above the gondola.

By comparison to the huge balloon, the gondola seemed tiny, and was suspended beneath the bulk by a maze of ropes. As it soared above the rim of the Stadium the white upper hemisphere glimmered in the beams of huge searchlights which were sprayed upon it.

The envelope dangled into the air as soon as its moorings were cut, but it had gone only a little more than 5,000 feet when it began gliding westward on a level. So low was the balloon that it soon was out of reach of the searchlights.

While the crowd was pouring out of the Stadium seeking to get to the street where the balloon might be seen, it disappeared over the towers of the loop. In a short time it was learned the bag had fallen.

A cat's eyes are sensitive to ultra-violet rays, enabling the cat to see better in the dusk than a human, but a cat cannot see by night as well as by day.

NATIONAL LABOR BOARD IS NAMED TO END DISPUTE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt today approved a joint declaration for industrial peace proposed to him by leaders of industry and labor in an effort to end disputes.

The President promptly appointed a board of seven, headed by Senator Wagner, (D., N. Y.), a labor authority, to administer the national peace effort.

Other members of the board are: William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; Dr. Leo Wolman, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers; Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil of New Jersey; Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Co.; and Louis Kirstein, Boston merchant.

The proposal was sent to the summer White House by the advisory board of the Industrial Recovery Administration which includes the spokesmen of industry and labor.

Miners Strike Ended

The President appointed the national labor tribunal a few hours after he had won an agreement to end the strike in the Pennsylvania coal fields, involving 700,000 workers and threatening to effect 200,000 more.

Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator, brought the history-making offer of labor and management to adjust their differences through the national tribunal to the summer White House by airplane late last night.

Maintain Status Quo

As in the case in the Penna. strike settlement, it is expected that the status quo of all existing working agreements shall be maintained during adjustment of differences.

Senator Wagner, who is chairman of the labor tribunal, has been a leader in Congress on labor legislation. He is serving his second term in the Senate and is a former New York judge.

Swope and Kirstein were named together with George Berry, president of the Pressmen's Union, as members of the board of three to arbitrate the Pennsylvania coal problem.

The strike was called off to permit the establishment of the codes regulating hours of work and wages for the coal industry. Hearings will start before General Johnson on these on August 9.

Johnson happily over the success

The President did not give out the complete details of plan for the national labor tribunal which were sent to him by the advisory board of the Industrial Administration. It is obvious he is relying again on voluntary cooperation for enforcement.

BLONDE SOUGHT FOR MURDER OF AGED MERCHANT

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—A blonde gunwoman, whose two male companions shoot, stab and slug their way to freedom, today became the object of a city-wide police search.

The charge, if and when she is apprehended, will likely be murder.

Gustav Hoch, 70 years old, owner of a haberdashery, was his victim when he was shot to death yesterday when he tried to prevent the woman's escape by grasping her dress while she and her two companions were about to flee in a motor car after an unsuccessful attempt to rob Hoch in his shop.

One of her companions promptly shot Hoch in the breast, and he died enroute to a hospital.

It was the police said, one of fifty or more crime forays in which the blonde and her companions have participated in the last three months. Usually she carries a pistol. Yesterday, however, she left it at home.

Cincinnati Reds

Recall Infielder

Cincinnati, Aug. 5—(AP)—Tony Robello, powerful youngster playing in the infield for Rock Island of Mississippi Valley League, is coming to the Cincinnati Reds to bolster a crippled squad, the club announced today.

Robello has been with Rock Island since training with the Reds this spring.

The woes of the Reds, losers of ten straight games, were added today by outfielder Harry Rice called to St. Louis because of the death of his mother. Clyde Manion is the only catcher available because of injuries suffered by Hensley and Lombardi. The infield was robbed of a mainstay when George Grantham broke a leg in the recent Chicago series. Robello is to take Grantham's position at second.

The length of Broadway within the city limits of Greater New York, is 15 1/2 miles.

Happy Workers 4-H Club Hold Meeting

The Happy Workers 4-H club of Palmyra met Wednesday at the home of Miss Avis Beede. The meeting was called to order, and roll call was answered by naming a living author and one of his popular works. During the business meeting it was decided to hold an ice cream and pie social Tuesday, Aug. 8th, at the home of Harry Covert. This will be held to raise some money at the 4-H club fair at Amboy. There will be games, also at the social. During the meeting Dorothy Covert and Inez Herbst gave the demonstration that won first place in the county contest last Thursday. Kathryn and Evelyn Scholl received first place in judging teams and Verna Hubbell's fourth year outfit got first place in the county contest. Kathryn Scholl gave a demonstration on making collars. Avis Beede gave one on making pockets. After the meeting was adjourned, games were played and refreshments were served. The meeting was enjoyed by all and the first day of the summer will be held Friday, Aug. 11th, at the home of the leader, Miss Anna Lawton.

JELLIED SALMON—WHEN MERCURY SOARS

Here's A Cooling Summer Dish To Captivate The Eye And Palate

By NEA Service

Jellied summer salads are in a process of putting the old home back on the map. With a little preparation and less cost, the careful hostess today can serve a home meal that will make all her friends ask for a return invitation to lunch or supper.

Jellied main dishes have a soothing, appealing coolness about them that the best ordinary dish lacks. You can use chicken, turkey, veal or practically any meat in a salad. But the jellied fish dish has a lightness about it that all others, excepting chicken perhaps, lack.

Have your whole meal arranged around a dish such as aspic salmon. Serve perhaps a tomato juice cocktail, or a consommé, then your jellied salmon, hot bread and beverage, then perhaps a deep dish berry pie and you have a meal that will make your guests' mouths water.

This is the recipe for Aspic of Salmon, New Waldorf. It serves six people lavishly.

How You Make It
2-Pounds cold boiled salmon,
2-Quarts of consommé stock
2-Quarts of consommé stock (Use stock salmon was cooked in, adding gelatin for the aspic jelly.)
1-2 pound cooked carrots
1 pound mixed cooked green vegetables, peas, lima beans, string beans, diced carrots.

Sliced cucumbers, watercress.
Using the fish stock, prepare about two quarts of fine jelly; season well and clear. Set a special mould, (about 6 inches in height, preferably one with a center division) deep in ice, and when the mould is sufficiently chilled, add one cup of the jellied consommé and roll the mould thoroughly so that the consommé will stick to the mould.

Decorate the Mould

Then, decorate the bottom of the mould with truffles, sweet peppers, or according to own taste. Add cold salmon cut in small pieces, then carrots, then more salmon, filling the mould with the jelly. In 6 small moulds (also chilled and well rolled with jelly), put the salad of mixed cooked vegetables very well seasoned.

When the salmon loaf and vegetable moulds have been thoroughly jellied, turn on cold silver platter, decorate platter with sliced cucumber and watercress.

A dressing must be served with the salmon in aspic, either mayonnaise, Russian dressing or green mayonnaise may be used.

Janet Gaynor Visits DeKalb Briefly

De Kalb, Aug. 5.—De Kalb was honored yesterday, Janet Gaynor, famous motion picture actress, de-trained here at 10 o'clock yesterday morning from a Chicago & North-Western express and was met by her chauffeur in the actress' beautiful Cadillac sedan. With Janet were her mother and another elderly woman.

More than 400 people jammed the station platform awaiting a glimpse of the actress, but only about half a hundred were rewarded. Most of the fans, it seems, were on the wrong side of the train.

Miss Gaynor was the first to scamper down the steps of the car. She was followed by her mother.

The demure film star wore a plain dark blue traveling suit of light weight material with hat to match. Light brown stockings and trim black slippers. Her attire was strikingly simple. She carried a huge basket of fruit and several books. Her luggage consisted of two plain suit cases, one large straw carrying case, and an overnight bag.

She was escorted to her car by A. M. Deitz, De Kalb chief of police, while Officer C. Sidney Rowe and Ben Peck kept the crowd from pressing.

An autograph was secured by Floyd Still, local druggist, who offered the actress a prescription blank. Mr. Still was also successful in getting several pictures on his motion picture camera.

A local newspaper correspondent asked Janet a few questions as she sat in her car while the chauffeur towed away the luggage.

The party, en route to a Century of Progress, expects to spend a short time in northern Wisconsin. The chauffeur inquired about the best road to Chicago and then swung the luxurious car north on Sixth street from the station to turn around.

Although Janet was here probably not more than ten minutes in all, those who saw her were impressed with her personality and voice and litan hair. But were they astonished at her freckles!

Bible Class Enjoys Picnic Supper

The Bible class of the Brethren church had a delightful time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reisinger, at 1611 West Second street last evening. The class met at six o'clock with filled baskets, and supper was served on the beautiful lawn. It seemed that each dish was prepared in a way to tease the taste, but there was plenty for all. The beautiful evening, the well lighted lawn, the social spirit, and the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Reisinger made the evening pass quickly. A very fine program of songs, talks, testimonies, and prayer were given to the edification of all present. It was decided that the next meeting will be held at the church parlors the first Friday evening, in September. At this meeting officers will be elected for the next year which begins October 1st. Before leaving for their homes, every one expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Reisinger their appreciation for the pleasant evening together and their unique way of entertaining so large a group.

Birthday Surprise For Mrs. Keiser

Mrs. Roy Foote and Mrs. Joe Gartner of Sterling were hostesses at a birthday surprise for Mrs. Paul Keiser at the home of Mrs. Foote Thursday evening. Mrs. Keiser was given a handkerchief shower and also received many other pretty gifts. The evening was spent in playing progressive "donkey." Delicious refreshments were served at a late hour.

Those present were Mesdames Ruth Johnson, Leroy Davis, Raymond Rutt, Robert Sonnenman, Albert Regan, Paul Gartner, Arthur Keiser, Ralph McCormick, Earl Keiser, Willie Melville, Roy Keiser of Dixon, Joe Gartner, Paul Keiser and Roy Foote.

August Meeting W. M. S. At Mrs. Seyster's Home

The August meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian Church was held at the home of Mrs. Emma Seyster on Thursday afternoon. The opening song was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Bennett, then came the secretary's report, Miss Spaulding, the State Secretary, asked if the Missionary Societies would entertain the World Fellowship meet next year. It was decided upon.

Mrs. Clinton Rhodes had charge of the worship period. One verse each of six old familiar hymns were sung, followed with a Bible reading. All read the words of the song "Teach us to Pray," instead of singing them. Then all knelt for a circle of prayer and while kneeling sang "More Love to Thee."

Mrs. Parks led the presentation. Mrs. Carl Straw read an article on "This Reading World" which was very interesting. Then the books to read the coming year were discussed. The offering was taken and a prayer was given by Mrs. Rhodes. The closing prayer was offered by Mrs. Kildig. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Seyster, McCordie and Straw.

Lawrence Sunday and Elsie Chambers Wed

Lawrence Sunday, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Sunday of Franklin Grove, was married to Miss Elsie Chambers of Downer's Grove, Wednesday, July the 26th. Dr. John Thompson of the Chicago Temple performed the ceremony in that edifice in Chicago. The groom is a truck-driver in Glen Ellyn and is an ambitious young fellow who has many acquaintances and friends in Franklin Grove who extend the best to the couple. His bride is an admirable young lady in every way. The couple will live in Glen Ellyn.

Entertains Sixteen At Bridge Luncheon

Miss Florence Wilson today entertained sixteen friends at a most delightful bridge luncheon. The tempting luncheon was served at the Rice Tea Room, followed by bridge at the Wilson home. The home was gay in decorations of zinnias, petunias, roses, etc., with tallies and favors harmonizing. Miss Ruth Fluck of Rock Falls is Miss Wilson's house guest over the week end.

Tested Recipes By Dixon Cooks

Some tried and tested recipes by Dixon women. Cut them out and put them in your cook book for future reference.

Cape Cod Baked Potatoes
1 cup freshened codfish, flaked
3 large baked potatoes
1 cup white sauce

Make a well seasoned medium-thick white sauce, drain codfish, break into small pieces and add to the white sauce. Cut baked potatoes into halves length-wise. While still hot scoop a hole in the center of each half and fill with creamed codfish piled high. Garnish with parsley and serve on a hot platter.

To freshen salt cod, cover with cold water and bring almost, but not quite to a boil, drain and repeat process three or four times. The fish will be so fresh that for some tastes it will require salting. The whole process can be completed in less than hour.—Mrs. E. T. Schuler

Spice Cookies (3 dozen)
The following recipe for spice cookies which recently appeared in the Telegraph has been tried by a reader and pronounced excellent, so we reprint it today as follows:

1 cup fat
2 cups brown sugar
3 eggs
4 tablespoons sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1-4 teaspoon salt
3-1-2 cups flour

Cream fat and sugar. Add eggs and cream and beat 2 minutes. Add rest of ingredients, mixing lightly. Drop portions from end of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Flatten with broad side of knife. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

Salmon Mould
2 tablespoons gelatine
2 tablespoons cold water
2 egg yolks
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons lemon juice
3-4 cup milk
1 pound can salmon
Few grains red pepper

Method—Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Beat the yolks of eggs and add salt, mustard and pepper, then melted butter, milk and lemon juice. Cook over boiling water as for salad dressing. When thick add gelatine and then the salmon, freed from all bones and shredded. Pour into a mold which has been rinsed in cold water, and set away to harden. When firm dip the mold in hot water to loosen it and turn out on a platter. Garnish with parsley and slices of lemon.

A grated cucumber mixed with mayonnaise is appetizing served with this salad.—Mrs. George B. Shaw.

Chocolate Cake
Grate 1-4 of a cake of chocolate, add one teaspoon soda. Pour over this 1-2 tea cup of boiling water and let stand. Add 2 cups granulated sugar, 1-2 cup shortening, 2 whole eggs, 1 cup sour milk, 2-1-2 cups sifted flour. Mix these and then add chocolate mixture. Use a boiled frosting for this cake. If you wish, melt a little chocolate and pour over the cake after the white frosting is on. Slightly mix the chocolate with the frosting.—Mrs. E. A. Clevidence.

Apple Sauce Cake
1-2 cup butter or other fat
1 cup sugar
1 cup apple sauce
1 cup chopped raisins
2-1-4 cups cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1-2 teaspoon ground cloves
1-2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1-2 teaspoon salt

Cream fat and sugar. Add apple sauce. Mix raisins with 1-4 cup flour, and sift rest of flour with the soda, baking powder, spices and salt. Add dry ingredients to first mixture and beat thoroughly. Add raisins. Pour into greased pan and bake about 45 minutes in moderate oven.—Mrs. Ben T. Shaw

Cocoanut Strips, To Serve With Salad
Slice bread three-fourths of an inch thick. Remove crusts and cut in finger lengths. Dip first in sweetened condensed milk, then in shredded cocoanut. Drain and bake in moderate oven, three minutes or until light brown.—Mrs. C. J. Rosbrook.

Pinwheel Cookies

Cream 1-2 cup butter, gradually add 1-2 cup sugar, and 1 beaten egg yolk, beat the mixture well. Add 3 tablespoons milk and 1-2 cups flour, which has been sifted with 1-2 teaspoons baking powder, and 1-4 teaspoon salt. Add 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Divide dough into halves. To one half add 1 square chocolate melted.

Roll the white dough into a thin rectangular sheet, then roll into chocolate mixture into a sheet the same size. Place chocolate sheet over the white and gently press together. Roll up about 2 inches in diameter. Set in icebox for several hours to become firm. Cut into thin

Egypt at Fair

King Tut-Ankh-Amen doesn't seem much excited over the charms of pretty Marguerite Bremer, New Orleans visitor to the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress. This statue of the ruler who lived more than three thousand years ago is in the Egyptian Pavilion, one of the Fair's many free attractions.

Frozen Desserts Most Desirable

Frozen desserts of all varieties are greeted with delight and they are so easy to make that it seems desirable to use them often in warm weather.

Plain ice cream and ices can be given to small children without any fear of ill effect, provided the frozen mixture is eaten slowly. Small bites on the tip of the spoon and not too close together prevent small tummies from being chilled by the dessert.

A plain vanilla cream is preferred by many mothers for children. If the vanilla cream is served with a sauce for the grown-up members of the family the dessert is suitable for young and old alike.

Many Ways of Serving
A pleasant way to vary an ice cream and cake dessert is to serve it sandwich fashion, putting ice cream between and on top of two thin slices of sponge cake. Cup cakes can be hollowed out and filled with ice cream and a sauce poured over the whole. Cream puff or eclairs shells can be filled with ice cream and covered with a sauce. Sauce is also poured over the ice cream sandwich. Meringue shells and waffles make good substitutes for the usual cake which is served with ice cream.

When it comes to the frozen dessert itself the varieties are numerous. Ices, sherbets, frozen custards, mousses, parfaits and ice cream of different degrees of richness offer a wide choice of frozen desserts.

Slow, steady freezing rather than much and vigorous stirring gives ice cream its smooth texture to a large extent. Of course the amount of cream used in the recipe also has much to do with the texture of the frozen mixture, but it is often hurried freezing instead of stirring or not stirring that is responsible for a coarse, granular ice cream.

Slow Freezing Smoothest
The smaller the amount of salt used in freezing a mixture the more velvety the texture, too. This of course lengthens the time required for freezing.

There are several types of freezers on the market and they all have their good points. Crank freezers, vacuum freezers, electric freezers and automatic refrigerators make it possible to produce excellent frozen desserts to suit every taste. The crank freezer, whether it is turned by hand or electricity, makes ice creams, mousses, parfaits, ices and sherbets with perfect results. Mixtures which are frozen without stirring are made perfectly in vacuum freezers and automatic refrigerators.

A MISSION WITH NO PROBLEMS.

It is rather refreshing in these troublous times to find Ras Desta Dantu, prince of the royal house of Abyssinia, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie—the Conquering Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Elect of God and the Light of the World—confessing to an ambition to establish an amusement park in his far-off homeland.

The prince came to America as the official envoy of his much-titled sovereign, and he did not take lightly his official duties. He called on President Roosevelt and dined in state at the White House. He met all sorts of notables, and saw everything big and grand that America has to offer, including cathedrals, skyscrapers and factories. But he was mostly interested in the Palisades amusement park in New York.

There the prince had a good time, despite his dignity and his gorgeous raiment and his retinue. He enjoyed the fun devices, particularly the shooting gallery, the freaks in the side show, and the roller coaster.

It is true that Abyssinia isn't any great shakes as a nation, but what it lacks in world importance it makes up in dignity and pomp and ceremony. Incidentally it is the only sizeable part of Africa that has been able to keep out of the clutches of the western world, so apparently the arts of statecraft are not unknown.

But the prince didn't make any high-flown speeches about modernizing his somewhat primitive country, for apparently he and his ruler-kinsman have no desire to ape the way of the western world. And he didn't have a lot of problems to get off his chest to add to the bewildering array that have been dumped on these shores by envoys of other nations.

No, the prince saw all the grandeur of New York—and reached the conclusion that a good amusement park to provide diversion for his fellow-countrymen would be a most desirable thing. Many will believe that the mission of this descendant of King Solomon was veritably a success, as few missions are.

RESULTS OF HITLERISM.

Some of the bitter fruits of the Hitler tree are already ripening.

Seventeen members of the board of the Hamburg-American Line have resigned, following a gloomy meeting in which were painted the evil results of the company's co-ordination with the Nazi regime. The famous German line's business has been constantly falling off, Dr. Max von Schinkel, chairman of the executive board, pointed out, due to the "disaffection of the outside world toward Germany." The older members of the board, unable to align themselves with the policy of the Nazis, refused to take further responsibility and quit.

Von Schinkel, a veteran of German shipping, knows intimately these effects. Without any formal boycott, oceanic shipping, especially passenger service, is particularly responsive to sentiment. People going aboard for a holiday pick their ship and their line largely on sentiment. Prof. Albert Einstein, whose theories almost nobody understands but almost everybody agrees are grand and highly valuable, has been driven from his homeland. The other day he sat in the House of Commons in England and heard a bill introduced extending opportunities for Jews living in other countries to become citizens of the British Empire.

Nobody knows what Germany is losing in the exodus of talented professional people who are being driven from the fatherland. There must be thousands, unwelcome because they are Jewish, but whose talents and excellent qualities will make them assets to some other land.

Of course the Nazi enthusiasts believe other gains will make up for these losses. Only time will tell that, but there is no need to blind themselves against the very real and material losses as well as the more intangible ones which are apparent.

RELIEF PROBLEMS REMAINS.

Better business, more jobs, and higher wages have heartened a depression-weary country. Times are better and the march along the road to recovery is gaining momentum.

While we rejoice at these developments, we must not lose sight of the fact that the very real problem of providing relief for millions of destitute unemployed remains acute.

States and cities, with treasuries drained, are finding it difficult to provide food and shelter for those who have not yet felt the benefits of improved conditions. The federal government continues to give huge sums to the states.

Even with the most favorable outcome in the efforts of the Recovery Administration, and with stimulated employment through expenditure of billions for construction, it will be many months before relief will cease to be a consideration of first magnitude.

Franklin Roosevelt is one of the most relaxed human beings I ever knew. No matter how hard he works nor how terrific his problems, he is never tense.—Frances Perkins, secretary of labor.

Women marry because they don't like to work.—Mary Garden.

"We still have crackers. Quite a few," said Goldy. "Tell you what let's do. We'll close the lid and hide the box inside the old sea chest."

"Then, when we're hungry as can be, we'll get it out quite easily. Right now I think I would be real smart if we'd all take a rest."

"Oh, let's not be so stingy, son. I think it would be lots of fun to feed some fish," said Shrimpy. "They are real good friends of mine."

"Just see how they've been hanging round. They're sure that nice food will be found, 'cause they have seen us eating." Scouty then said, "Say, that's fine."

Wee Dotty took a cracker and a fish ate right out of her hand. Another Tiny shouted, "Goodness me, how they can stuff!"

The whole bunch fed them for a while and then kind Shrimpy, with a smile, said, "Now, let's put the box away. The fish have had enough."

the chest, wee Scouty loudly cried, "Hey, lads, there's something else in here. Why, it's a bag of gold!"

"We missed it when we looked before. 'Tis well I chanced to look some more. I'll bet that it was left here by a pirate, brave and bold."

A fishhook drifted near the bunch and Copy cried, "I have a hunch. We do not want this money. Come, let's put it on that hook."

"Some fisherman will realize that he has caught a big surprise. We don't know who is fishing, but I'll swim right up and look."

"Oh Shrimpy smiled and cried, 'Well, say, I like to hear you talk that way. I think what you've suggested is a real fine thing to do.'"

"You'll bring somebody happiness unless, of course, I miss my guess. And, when you make folks happy, lad, it makes you happy, too!"

(A fisherman and his son get a big surprise in the next story.)

alert for any new ideas of suggestion that might make him more efficient in his work. Although he is now considered one of the best undertakers in this county. Presbyterian Notes

Sunday school 9:30 A. M.

August is vacation month and there will be no preaching services held in our church. A good-sized audience came last Sunday evening to enjoy the musical program by Miss Esther Dismang. The program was carried out as advertised and was enjoyed by all. Watch these columns for further announcements.

Rev. C. P. Blekking, Minister, Franklin Whips Ashton

A fast ninth inning resulted in a victory for Franklin Grove, over Ashton, Sunday, 3 to 2. Ashton was leading 2 to 0 at the start of the ninth, but two errors, a double and a triple did the good work for Franklin.

Ashton scored in the first inning when Kersten scored on Oliver Krug's hit, after getting on base through an error. From then on until the eighth inning neither team scored. In the first of the eighth Ventler singled into center field, but was out at the plate, when Kersten drew the initial sac on a fielder's choice. Oliver Krug led out to second. Scherzer walked and Bush hit into right field, scoring Kersten.

In the last of the ninth Bell reached first on an error. Cook doubled to left field, scoring Bell, and Kinney grounded out to second. Phillips was safe at first when the pitcher cut off Cook at third. Shoemaker reached first on an error, and both scored when Zoeler smashed a fast one deep into center field.

Thus ended the hard-fought game, Franklin 3, Ashton 2.

Picnic and Homecoming

The following item was taken from the society columns in the Chicago Daily Tribune, Tuesday:

"An old fashioned homecoming and picnic will be held Labor Day at Franklin Grove, Ill. Members of the committee include Mrs. Frederick A. Dow, past president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Earl Orner, Mayor of Wilmette for twenty-six years, and Mrs. Harry L. MacGregor, a member of the board of the Woman's National Republican Club."

Since the publication of that notice, further committees have been appointed: J. H. and Nelson Blocher, co-chairmen; Emory Buck transportation; U. G. Buck, attendance. With favorable weather a most happy time should be enjoyed on the camp grounds. Mrs. Dow is planning a fine program.

The Franklin Grove Band will furnish music for the occasion.

Celebrated Birthday

July 28th Mrs. Anna Colwell celebrated her 82nd birthday anniversary. In the evening relatives and friends numbering twenty gathered at her home to remind her of the event. Those present were, Mrs. Cora Penny of Powell, Ohio, Mrs. John Keilman of Long Beach, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Grover and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Spratt and daughter, Mrs. Mabel Henry and son, Mrs. Rebecca Colwell, Mr. and Mrs. Claire Colwell, Mrs. Marcey Spratt and sons. Ice cream and cake were served, after which all departed for their homes wishing Grandma many more happy birthdays.

Band Concert

The tenth concert by the local band will be played Saturday evening, Aug. 5, commencing at 8 o'clock. Following is the program:

March—Gloria.

Popular—42nd Street.

Waltz—Love Eternal.

Intermezzo—In A Moonlit Garden.

March—On The Mall.

Intermezzo—Isle of Beauty.

Trombone Smear—Teddy Trombone.

Concert—March Militaire.

Serenade—Cupid's Wooing.

Overture—Panorama.

Popular—Close Your Eyelids.

Honey, by Bela R. Alderman.

Arranged for band by Director Arthur Blocher, sung by Scott Smith.

March—The Billboard.

Barbers Meeting

Master barbers and beauty parlor operators of Whiteside, Ogles and Lee counties met Monday night in the American Legion hall at Dixon to draw up a code of working hours and prices. They decided to work 56 hours. 50 cents is the new price for haircuts in the three counties.

Methodist Notes

Sunday school at 9:00

Preaching at 10:30. The time of preaching has been set ahead for this Sunday on account of the picnic dinner to be enjoyed in the church at noon. Picnic rules will be observed. Everyone is invited.

Choir rehearsal Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. L. Moore.

—Chas. D. Wilson, Minister.

Farewell Party

The Aid Society of the Light-house Methodist Church sponsored a social as a farewell party to Mrs. Nicholas. About 120 were present to show their appreciation of Mrs. Nicholas' services to this community. After an evening of games, singing and visiting, Mrs. J. E. Meyers, vice president of the Ladies Aid, said a few fitting words as a farewell to Mrs. Nicholas. Mrs. Nicholas graciously responded. Mrs. Mae Cleaver, president of the Ladies Aid then presented Mrs. Nicholas with a box of coins, as a token of love from different families in the community. At a late hour refreshments of ice cream and cake were served and all went to their homes with fond memories of the event.

Mrs. Nicholas will visit her sons in Ohio for a brief time before leaving for China. Her address will be Methodist Compound Fochow, Fuisien, China.

No More Services

Sunday was the last of the afternoon services on the camp grounds. During the services the swimming pool has been closed, but from now on the pool will be open the entire afternoon and evening. The opening of the pool Sudays has proven to be profitable to the association. It has been a splendid summer for swimming owing to the heat. The grounds are clean and beautiful, with pure drinking water at convenient locations, making them an ideal spot to spend a day or a week or more. The prices are very reasonable at the pool.

Pictures at the Grounds

A talking picture program will be given at the camp ground Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. This feature shows a three-reel picture, entitled "The Benefactor," a very thrilling story of farm folks in every day life. Also the first issue of the National Farm News Reel, showing the International Live Stock show. Two reels will be devoted to "Horse Sense" a picture filled with good sense and a lot of entertainment.

Boys and girls enrolled in agricultural or home economics courses will be especially interested in this show, for by attending they are eligible for the essay contest sponsored by the State Farm Insurance Company through whose courtesy this show is exhibited. $250 in cash prizes is being offered for the best essay submitted. Every one is welcome to this big evening of entertainment.

ROGERS-KNAAR TROUPE OF HIGH TIGHT-WIRE ARTISTS

Barnett Bros. Big Three Ring Circus and Menagerie, with its host of funny clowns, many cages of rare and wild animals and an array of men and women who daily laugh at death in their exploits to thrill and amuse, will exhibit in Dixon next Wednesday at the Van Buren street show grounds.

Old time circus atmosphere will prevail in Dixon when Barnett Bros. exhibit here as this show is one of the few remaining on the road today which still clings to the street parade. The parade in Dixon will leave the show grounds promptly at noon for its trek over the business section of the city. In the line of march will be found elephants, camels, many open dens containing various species of wild animals, scores of men and women in brightly hued costumes, while the four bands will accompany with stirring marches. The screeching

Performance being presented by Barnett Bros. this season is the most elaborate that has ever been attempted in the number of years this show has been touring the United States.

Aerialists, tumblers, acrobats, trapeze artists, wire walkers, bareback riders, cowboys and cowgirls, besides the many trained elephants, horses, dogs and ponies will perform in the three big rings under the circus tent in an almost unending procession of thrills and feats of daring.

Two performances will be presented in Dixon. The afternoon show will start at 2 P. M. and the night show at 8 P. M. Doors to the big show and menagerie will be open an hour previous to showing time.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

CHAPTER I

IT was a brief and hurried marriage ceremony, not at all the imposing affair Eve Bayless had dreamed her wedding would be.

Just she and Dick, at the Little Stone Church, with the rectory housekeeper and a young civil engineer whom Dick knew for wittiness. Monday noon—and the hastily performed ceremony was like an anti-climax to the passionate scene of parting Thursday night when Eve had decided she wanted to be Dick's wife with as little loss of time as possible.

And now, even while she was being married to Dick, there was the menacing ghost of the unborn hovering between her and her happiness.

To Eve her wedding was like a disturbing dream. Would she get back to the store before Mr. Barnes sent for her? Would Dick be angry and storm when she told him what had happened that morning? Or would he be hurt and silent? Well, she wouldn't tell him until she had learned for sure—this evening after dinner. No use to spoil the afternoon for him. She tried to focus her attention on the words that were binding her to Dick, but there were so many thoughts that kept interfering.

Now the earnest young rector was giving them his blessing. Dick's ring was on her finger, Dick's arms were around her. Dick's lips, possessive yet very tender, pressed to hers. Eve's heart melted. In that moment she was almost ready to give up everything for Dick. Her work, the coveted goal almost within reach, the career she had dreamed of through her girlhood—these she was moved to heap on love's altar as a sacrifice.

It was Dick who broke the spell. Abruptly his arms released her. It was he who suggested, almost brusquely, that they'd have to hurry or they would be late to work.

BUT by the time his roadster had nosed its way through the noonday traffic to the side entrance of Bixby's department store, where Eve was employed as a copy writer in the advertising office, Dick's mood had changed again. His hand closed over hers. "Eve, sweetheart, don't go back! I don't want my wife out earning her living. Let me take care of you, darling. You know—the kind of marriage we talked about last night—that's what I want. A little house with a fireplace and a garden and—a baby."

"Dick," she pleaded, "let me go! We can't thresh that out again. At least not here. Not now. Wait for me here this evening. I'll try not to be late, but I don't know. Something came up in the office this morning—something unexpected and terribly important. I'll tell you about it this evening. Bye, dearest."

Eve consulted her watch when she reached the third floor. She had just five minutes to change from the brown ensemble which was her wedding costume into her smart but simple black office dress. The change was accomplished in the allotted time and the brown costume and the corsage of creamy, fragrant rosebuds with tawny orchids that Dick had sent, put away in her locker. Thank goodness none of the girls whom she knew at Bixby's had spied that corsage! They could scent a wedding months away.

She slipped off her wedding ring, the little circlet of pale yellow gold engraved with orange blossoms which she had chosen instead of platinum because it matched the golden lights in her amber eyes and honey-colored hair and harmonized with the October browns and yellows that were her favorite colors. She put the ring in the chamois envelope which guarded her money and trinkets. Eve had told no one at Bixby's that she was to be married today. She would not tell them for a while—not until she was certain she wished them to know.

Oh, she should have waited until June to be married, she told herself unhappily as she went into the office. If only they could have been married Saturday instead of today, it would have helped the situation some. But the state law had been changed and a three-day notice was required before a marriage license could be issued. She knew she should not be thinking about all this now. She must keep her nerves steady and her mind clear for that conference with Mr. Barnes at two o'clock. She hoped, yet feared, the outcome of that conference.

EVE was relieved to find there was no one in the advertising office except Marya Vlad, the fashion artist, who was working on her drawing board in a corner by the window. Perhaps Marya was not so oblivious to what went on about her as she seemed. Perhaps her candid blue eyes were more penetrating than her fellow workers realized, but at any rate she was too courteous and considerate to ask questions that might prove unwelcome. She merely looked up and smiled as Eve entered.

"Did any one ask for me?" Marya knew of the conference with Mr. Barnes, scheduled for two o'clock.

"No one. How lovely you look today, Eve."

"Oh, I'm glad you think so! I have a special reason for wanting to look well today." "Is that so?" echoed a voice in gay gallantry and Arlene Smith, Earle Barnes' stenographer, entered the office, only a few steps behind Eve. "Don't tell us you are turning to such tactics to land a promotion," Arlene went on. "Not after the way I've been bragging to my family about the high-mindedness and all-around superiority of this office force!"

"Goodness, no!" laughed Eve. "The promotion, if any, hasn't a thing to do with my wish. I just came in from a date with a very special man. He's the marked victim of my fatal charm—not Mr. Barnes, nor yet Mr. Bixby."

"Oh, I know," said Arlene. "The strong, silent one who parks that yellow roadster at the side entrance at quitting time about five evenings a week. Listen, dearest, any time you get a chance to pass up this madhouse in exchange for a permanent seat in that roadster and the privilege of operating a kitchenet and can-opener for that young man you'd better grab off the prize."

"Sometimes I really believe you prefer domesticity to a business career," Eve said.

"Just watch me help myself to the first chance at sweet domesticity that comes my way," was Arlene's fervent reply. "I'm fully as domestic as Marya, here, and twice as domestic as you, Eve. But do the men see that? They do not! I'm all right to play around with but when they begin to shop around for an engagement ring they have some sweet young thing like you or Marya in mind."

Eve laughed unreservedly and slipped a fresh sheet of paper into her typewriter. The conversation was on dangerous ground. It had been on the tip of her tongue a moment ago to tell Arlene and Marya about the wedding that noon in the Little Stone Church, but she was not yet ready for that disclosure. Too many things were crowding themselves into this day.

THE second of the most important events of Eve's life was to take place within two hours after her wedding. Two sharp sounds of the buzzer summoned her to the office of Earle Barnes, advertising manager of Bixby's. Although her work took her to Barnes' office many times each day, Eve felt half-sick with trepidation this time. She trembled involuntarily, and her head throbbed with a dull ache. Yet she strove to maintain an appearance of outward calm. A swift glance in the way old mirror hanging over the washstand in the corner reassured her, and the group gathered about Barnes' desk little suspected that the lovely, flushed face and eager bright eyes of the girl joining them masked real fright. Eve's chin was held high, however, and she managed a smile as she acknowledged the salutatory nod of white-haired Mr. Bixby, founder and owner of the store. So much depended upon the outcome of this conference.

Barnes drew up a chair for Eve, next to Alice Marshall, who was first assistant advertising manager. Mr. Bixby brought from his vest pocket a pair of Oxford glasses which he unfolded and adjusted on his dignified nose. "The better to see you, my dear," thought Eve, and she felt that with the aid of those powerful lenses he could pierce through to her innermost thoughts and discover her secret.

"Miss Bayless," he began with customary dignity, "you are undoubtedly aware that it is the policy of the Bixby store to watch carefully the progress of each of its employees. From the time you joined us we have noted with satisfaction your spirit toward your work, your co-operation and your initiative."

"Mr. Bixby smoothed the narrow black ribbon attached to his glasses before he went on. "Miss Marshall is leaving us, as you, of course, know. And it becomes necessary for us to choose a successor to fill her position. Mr. Barnes and I discussed the matter of the New York trip after my talk with you this morning, Miss Bayless, and it has been definitely decided that you are to go."

"Oh—how nice!" Eve managed to articulate. "It will give added interest and importance to the launching of your special column and ought to give you talking points for many weeks to come. Women read department store advertising primarily for the purpose of learning of bargains and new merchandise. I've always contended, however, that in addition advertising should be chatty and interesting in itself. Well, we're counting on you to make Bixby's advertising chatty and interesting."

"But this change may lead to eventually depends largely upon yourself—the selling power of your copy, your initiative and the ability you display in other ways."

"Thank you. I'll do my very best," Eve promised. "Do you—did you definitely decide that I'm to go tonight? I could go a little later just as well." Eve was praying in her heart, "Not tonight! Dear God, don't let it be tonight!"

Daily Health Talk

GALLSTONES

The disease condition in which stones form in the gall-bladder and elsewhere in the bile-secreting system is said to have been first described in the middle of the fourteenth century by the Italian physician, Gentile de Foligno.

However, gallstones have been found in Egyptian mummies, and no doubt the ancient physicians were acquainted with the clinical picture presented by this condition.

Gallstones are not confined to man. They are also found in animals, both domesticated and wild. They are rare in the meat-eating species, but are fairly common in the large vegetable-consuming animals.

What causes the formation of gallstones is an old and still incompletely solved problem.

One theory, which was advanced some 40 years ago, accounts for the formation of stones on the basis of bile stasis. By bile stasis is meant any condition which interferes with the movement into the intestinal tract of the bile secreted by the liver and passed through the gall-bladder and the bile ducts.

This theory has been somewhat modified in recent years. Gallstones, it is believed, are formed when the bile-secreting system and bile-conveying channels are subjected to inflammatory and non-inflammatory disease conditions. In these disease conditions germs may play a role; so, also, may certain types of metabolic disturbances.

The problem of the formation of gallstones is complicated by the fact that not all the stones are similar either in structure, size or appearance. Some stones have a large content of calcium salts. Still others contain bile pigments and a variety of other substances in combination. The stones may be of a crystalline structure or in a laminated form—that is, in a series of layers.

Sometimes only one stone may be found in the gall-bladder, while in one case reported in medical literature, as many as 14,000 small stones were recovered from one bladder.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—The decision of Senator Sam Bratton of New Mexico to quit the Senate and return to the bench came as no great surprise to those who know the red-haired, studious westerner.

Bratton resigned as an associate justice of the supreme court of his state to come to the senate back in 1924. In 1930 he won the right to sit for another term.

He never seemed quite able to cast off the judicial atmosphere that appeared to cling to him all the time he was in the Senate.

Despite the fact that Bratton had acquired seniority and influence in the Senate, he was never quite happy there.

He had eight years to think it over. When President Roosevelt offered him a federal judgeship, he accepted eagerly.

It Suits Wagner

Quite the reverse is true of another Senator who left a high place on the bench of his state to come to the senate. He is Bob Wagner of New York.

The story is told that Wagner left his position on the New York supreme bench with some reluctance to run for the senate.

The senate has given him an opportunity for service and constructive effort he has always wanted. German-born, he has gone about as high politically as it is possible for him to go. Thus, freed from disturbing influences which eligibility for presidential or vice presidential honors would have given him, he has been able to proceed unhampered with his ideas.

Now he sees the law of the land embodying many ideas on unemployment and relief similar to his own. Today he holds a position of real power in the senate.

Go Back? No!

He has shown no indications of a desire to return to the judicial life. Rather, he is happier now than ever before.

However, Senator Bratton is a young man, much younger than Wagner.

It is possible that before President Roosevelt's term is over he may have opportunity to name several members of the Supreme Court. And there are those who wouldn't be surprised to see Bratton return to Washington some day as a justice of the nation's supreme tribunal.

AMBOY NEWS

Amboy—Mary Meade is visiting with relatives in Chicago this week.

Ray Schrock of Dixon transacted business here Thursday.

Mrs. Ora Williams and daughter and Mrs. Mary Green and Mr. and Mrs. Spangler of Texaco, Ill., were guests at the L. C. Donoho home over the past week end.

H. Nobles went to Walnut Tuesday to visit with relatives for the remainder of the week.

Clyde Thurston was in Amboy from Ohio Tuesday.

Margaret Rambeau, Alveda A. Washburn and Kirby MacKinnon motored to Rockford Friday and attended the Ringling Bros. circus.

The I. O. O. F. lodge rooms were moved this week from the corner of Main and Mason streets to the second floor of the Lyons building on East avenue.

Harold Sturtz will spend the week end at the fair ground in Chicago, and visiting the Carl Garrett family.

John Burnham, 93 year old Civil War veteran who resides near Amboy was transacting business in town Wednesday. Mr. Burnham who has had an eventful life as a soldier and farmer says he is still feeling spry and full of a very optimistic frame of mind.

That traffic on the Illinois Central railroad has shown an increase is indicated by the gradual raise in business and by the changes in routing some of the trains. The increased business is also shown by the additional number of trains passing through the Amboy yard. Another crew working out of Preeprest started work Monday and a work train crew started out of Clinton Wednesday. Rumor has it that other crews may be called within a few days.

A special meeting was called at the city hall Friday evening by Jack A. Schuster of Sublette, where sportsmen of this vicinity met to discuss rumors of dynamiting and seining of fish in Green River. This practice is becoming a menace to good fishing. Kathleen Deiter is visiting her grandparents.

The Shamrocks will play at Center on the west side diamond Sunday. Lee Center will do their best to avenge the defeat handed them by the local squad earlier in the season. However, the Shamrocks are out to hold down their position at this place in the league standing for which Lee Center is also a contender. So there should be plenty of action in Sunday's game.

CHAPTER XLVIII

ELINOR whispered, "Barry, dear!" and he sat suddenly erect. He said unsteadily, "I'm going to say good night now, dearest!"

Again he kissed her hands and she clung to him. He kissed her lips, then moved abruptly away. At the door he paused and turned. "You'll never know," he said, "how happy you've made me!" Then he was gone.

Elinor began to cry again but this time they were tears of happiness. How could she have hurt him as she had? His future was what she should be thinking about—not his past. She knew how utterly she loved him. She had not deserved all Barrett had brought her. Barrett had said she was the one woman in his life. Dear, dear Barrett!

She lived again those moments when he had held her close in his arms, declared he would wait patiently if only she could care again in the old way. "Oh!" she breathed aloud. This happiness was real!

Marcia arrived the next day after Bob and Barrett had driven to the nearest links, their golf bags poking from the car.

Marcia, looking dramatic in black, stepped from her car. She saw Elinor and, turning, saw Gerald. She moved toward the boy, swaying a little, and when she was beside him put a hand on his shoulder. He looked up at her with friendly inquiry. Elinor drew near.

BATTERS STOLE

PLAY THIS WEEK

Most Of Leaders In American League Lost Ground

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The National League's batsmen took all the play away from their American League rivals during the past week, staging an advance on an almost unbroken front while most of the leaders in the junior circuit dropped back.

Chuck Klein, Phillies' ace led the way and advanced his mark to the highest level of the season, 366. In the week which ended with yesterday's games, Klein smacked out 15 hits adding 16 points to his average. Spud Davis, second on the National League list, picked up ten points and Bill Terry of New York slipped into third place as he hoisted his mark eleven points. Tony Pict of Pittsburgh moved into sixth place by increasing his average 18 points.

Jimmie Fox of the Philadelphia Athletics made the biggest advance among the American League's first ten, three points, moving up to 358, only a point behind the league leader, Al Simmons of Chicago. Simmons lost two points.

Behind these leaders, only two players who were on the list a week ago could show improved marks. Bill Dickey of New York gained two points and Roy Johnson of Boston, one.

Wally Berger, the Boston Braves slugger, administered a blow to Klein's National League slugging monopoly by taking the lead in home runs with a total of 20 to Klein's 18.

EQUIPOISE TO GO AFTER NEW MONEY RECORD

Great Horse To Give Away Weight To Real Rivals

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—C. V. Whitney nominated his handicapped champion, Equipoise, for the 31st running of the Saratoga Handicap today, giving the five-year-old son of Pennant-Swinging an excellent chance to boost his total earnings past the $300,000 mark.

The race at a mile and a quarter, carried a purse of $250,000—added with about $6400 going to the winner. Equipoise already has earned $297,170 so that victory would make him well over the $300,000 mark and put him close to Zev in the matter of total earnings. Only Zev, Gallant Fox, Phar Lap and Sun Beau top the Whitney star in money won.

Equipoise, however, was asked to carry the terrific burden of 142

A HORSE ON US—

Europeans—especially the turf-minded sort—seldom are willing to give Americans credit where it is due in raising horses, but they are perfectly willing to give us all the credit for the infamous practice of doping thoroughbreds. And credit rightfully belongs to this country.

Doping race horses, however, is no recent innovation, the recent Arlington Park arrests to the contrary notwithstanding. No, it is indulged in now as frequently as in past years.

A horse may be doped to win or to lose. Heroin is the commonest form of narcotic used in the former case, and laudanum in the latter. But the laudanum method is seldom used, except when racketeers get set to make a betting coup, since race tracks do not pay off on losing horses.

DOESN'T WORK ALWAYS.—It is generally the man with the one-horse stable that resorts to the use of narcotics to make his horse run. This man has the erroneous idea that a shot of "hop" will make his plater run like a Twenty Grand. He doesn't seem to realize that nothing short of the supernatural will get his horse to going faster than his particular set of muscles will permit him to run. And a dozen failures will not teach him to keep his horse away from "doctor."

Doping is a peculiarly unreliable method of trying to make a horse win. It works over a very short period of time and must be administered expertly and with the time element considered. If the horses are slow in getting away and the dope may have worked off. If there is no delay at the post it may work after the race is over.

And then, too, track officials are always able to spot the doped horses. Dope makes the cells expand, and the horse sweats profusely, and if he hasn't warmed up for the race the judges know the correct answer.

"HONEST" DOPE.—The big stables seldom use dope on horses, and then only in the case of the dishonest ones. If a horse starts to suik just about post time, a shot of hop will bring him out of it and make him feel his real self. He will then give an "honest" account of himself.

There have been many notorious "hop horses," and for the most part their career has been short, though not necessarily inglorious. Dope does not seem to injure their career in the breeding paddocks. No mare in America has so enviable a record as Lady Sterling. She foaled the mighty horses Sir Barton, St. Henry and Sir Martin, and her daughter, Lady Doreen, was the mother of the great Princess Doreen. Yet Lady Sterling was a notorious "hop horse."

But by any code doping the "bang-tails" is an inhuman practice, and many states now have laws to curb it.

DID YOU KNOW THAT— Jimmy Fox thinks it's possible, "but not hardly probable" for him to break Babe Ruth's homer mark this year . . . and says those few days he was laid up by injuries threw him off his stride. Joe Cronin is a religious young fellow . . . makes the sign of the cross in the dirt with his bat every time he comes up . . . Jack Sharkey, since his defeat by Carnera, is spending his every moment fishing . . . and its said he could lick Ike Walton any day he hurled a fly.

Braves Win Couple

The fifth place Boston Braves cut the Cardinals' margin to two games by taking a double header from the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 1, and 3 to 0, behind fine pitching by Ben Cantwell and Bob Smith. Between them they gave only eleven hits and Smith, making his first start since he was bought from Cincinnati, pitched a four hit shut-out victory. Wally Berger contributed his 20th home run to the second victory.

In the only American League game, the Detroit Tigers went into fifth place, passing Chicago as they downed the White Sox 3 to 2 in eleven innings. Vic Sorrell allowed the Hose only six hits and Hank Greenberg drove in all the Tiger runs with a homer and a single.

Nelson-Nachusa Game Tomorrow To Be "Grudge" Event

The Nelson Cardinals will play the Nachusa Indians at the Eberly diamond on Sunday. This will be the first of a double header starting at 1 o'clock and as this is the third game of the year between the two teams, and also a grudge contest, the fans should have plenty of excitement. Each team has won a game by a close score. The batteries for the Cardinals will be McClintek and Bohlen, and for Nachusa, Gilroy and McReynolds.

GIRL SUB FOR "QUEEN HELEN" WAS SURPRISE

Sarah Palfrey, 20, Of Boston Came To The Rescue

New York, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The names of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Alice Marble today were scratched from the singles list for the Wightman Cup tennis matches against Great Britain this afternoon with the question as to whether they will pair in the final doubles left for decision until just before the match.

It was decided that neither was in condition to play in the arduous singles contest, Mrs. Moody because of the sprained back which kept her out of competition yesterday and Miss Marble because of fatigue resulting from an over-ambitious schedule in the East Hampton tournament Monday.

Sarah Palfrey, the little Boston girl who substituted so brilliantly for the American captain yesterday to help give the United States a clean sweep of the first three contests will play singles again in Mrs. Moody's place; while Carolin Babcock, third ranking player of the country will substitute for Miss Marble against Betty Nuthall of England.

If Mrs. Moody and Miss Marble decide not to play doubles, Miss Babcock and Mrs. John Van Ryn, the other American reserve, will pair against Miss Nuthall and Freda James, the second ranking British combination.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Thanks to the brilliant play of 20-year-old Sarah Palfrey, subbing for Helne Wills Moody, the United States carried a 3-0 lead into the second and final day of the Wightman Cup series against Great Britain today.

Ambergris is worth double its weight in gold. It is a gum-like substance found in whales and used in the manufacture of perfumes. Masses of the material, weighing over 200 pounds, are sometimes found floating in the ocean.

Ants have undergone no important structural changes for millions of years; specimens preserved in amber have given scientists excellent opportunities for study.
